BHJJ is a diversion program for juvenile justice-involved youth ages 10–18 with mental health or substance abuse issues. In lieu of detention, youth are diverted into local, evidence-based behavioral health treatment.

Mental health assessments revealed:
- 56% of females talked about suicide and 25% attempted suicide at least once.
- Common DSM diagnoses included ADHD, ODD, cannabis disorders, conduct disorder, and mood disorders.
- The majority of youth had a history of mental health and substance use issues in their families.

Treatment outcomes indicated:
- 89% of youth completed treatment successfully.
- Treatment led to significant improvements in problem severity and functioning.
- Youth reported reductions in trauma symptoms and substance use.
- Grades improved and school suspensions/expulsions were greatly reduced.
- Over 97% of youth were NOT sent to an ODYS institution following services.
